3,000 COMMUNISTS PUT OUT OF ACTION

Facility For Teaching Nearly Ready In Land Between Lakes

A new facility designed to accommodate classroom groups and their teachers in land between the lakes is scheduled for completion this week, the Tennessee Valley Authority reports.

The Youth Activities Station will be used by groups coming to the area to stay as long as two weeks to study natural sciences.

The station is built on a point of land extending into Lake Barkley, part of the 4,500-acre Conservation Education Center. This center will be a key feature of the land between the lakes recreation and educational area being developed by TVA on a 40-mile-long strip of land between two large lakes in western Kentucky-Tennessee.

The Youth Activities Station will be used for the first time by a classroom group in April, TVA said.

The sixth and seventh grades of the Middle Tennessee State University Campus School will spend five days in the outdoor education center to test the facility and to develop a program that the school groups might follow when they come to use the Youth Station.

While they are in the area, the students will use the trails, lakes, streams, and ponds as laboratories. They will visit areas of historical significance, and they will study agriculture, forestry, and wildlife and observe demonstrations of good and poor conservation practices.

The visit of the Campus School to the newly completed conservation education facility is being planned under a contract between the university and TVA. The contract calls for the university to design a program of use for the facility, test it by bringing a group of students into the area, and revise the program depending on the experiences of the students and teachers who come to the area. This will serve as a pattern for other school groups and organizations using the Youth Activities Station in the future.

The Conservation Education Center will be devoted to helping people, both young and old, understand the need for protecting our natural resources.

The Youth Activities Station is designed to teach children the ways of nature and conservation measures. An Adult Activities Station for more sophisticated conservation studies will be developed in the Conservation Education Center in future years.

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration may welcome the convening of the Geneva Convention to seek peace in Southeast Asia, but Senate GOP Leader Everett Dirksen is somewhat chary of the idea. He said in an interview that the United States would have "no assurance that we would be going anywhere in another Geneva conference."

MIAMI — The State of Florida was to call its star witness to stand today in the murder-forge passion trial of Candace Mossler and her handsome nephew, Melvin Lane Powers. The state hoped testimony given by handyman Roscoe Brown, who cleaned the Mossler apartment hours before millionaire Jacques Mossler was bludgeoned to death, would help convince the jury of the guilt of Candy and Powers.

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration disclosed Wednesday that the "Food for Peace" program would be overhauled to broaden its effectiveness in combating the spread of communism in underdeveloped countries throughout the world.

WASHINGTON — The National Computer Commission on automation today recommended to President Johnson a vast $2 billion program to provide work for 500,000 unemployed workers, as well as another program to insure needy families of a minimum annual income.

Kathleen Madry Participant In Youth Conference

Kathleen Madry, Route 1, Murray, was a participant in the 3rd annual Kentucky Youthpower Food Conference held January 28-29 at the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville.

The two-day conference was attended by teenagers representing 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers, Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts. Future Homemakers, Distributive Education and At-large members.

Kathleen, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Madry, represented the 4-H and was selected to attend for having an outstanding leadership record and interest in the food industries of Kentucky, with Farm Bureau and states agencies cooperation, the conference objectives are to dramatize statewide concern about teenage eating habits and the cultural, social and economic values of food; to develop cooperation between youth groups; to influence understanding of the farm-to-table story; to improve teenage nutrition; and to acquaint teenagers with a better understanding of food careers.

Delegates are charged with the responsibility to tell the "food story" in their home communities, through radio, television, newspaper articles and by speaking to civic clubs, school assemblies, P.T.A.'s, youth groups and Farm Bureaus.

Plans are being announced today by the Music Department of the Murray Woman's Club for their annual Style Show, Spring Interlude XII, which will be presented at the club house on Tuesday evening, March 15 at 7:30 p.m.

Something new and fresh has been added this year by the use of pantomime and a little touch of humor along with the welcome look at the new spring fashions, according to members of the department.

The theme of the show this year "Everything Happens At The Back of the House" suggests a very entertaining evening. Tickets will be $1.00 each and can be purchased from any member of the department.

Fire Department Reports Quiet Period

The Murray Fire Department had a quiet day and night on Wednesday with no calls received by the firemen.

In an account of the fire Tuesday of the house at 1305 Poplar Street with damage to the bedroom, the name, Larry Norworthy, was given as the owner of the house. This should have been Larry Rudolph.

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration announced on Wednesday a grant of $64,549 for an adult health education program in Breathitt County allocated by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

JAYCEES WANT REPEAL FRANKFORT, Ky. — The board of directors of the Kentucky Jaycees has gone on record as favoring the repeal of the 10 cent per gallon state whiskey production tax. All Jaycees in the state were urged to contact their legislators urging them to help repeal the tax.

FREE PUPPIES

A mother Spitz with five puppies is now available to anyone wishing to have a pet. The puppies will be given away free individually or all together. Puppies are not Spitz but will be small dogs. This is a good opportunity to get a small pet for your child. May be picked up at 621 Broad Extended.

Accidents Are Reported By Police

An automobile accident occurred this morning at eight o'clock at the intersection of Highway 641 and Sycamore Street, according to Sgt. James Witherspoon and Patrolman Martin Wells who investigated the collision.

Carolyn A. McNeely, of 1605 Ryan Avenue, driving a 1966 Chevrolet four door hardtop owned by Howard McNeely, was going west on Sycamore Street and stopped for the red light. Bonnie Williams, 1107 Chestnut Street, driving a 1961 Opel two door, was going south on 641 making left turn and hit the McNeely car in the left front fender, according to the police.

Wednesday at 11:26 a.m. Charles Steven Sexton of 120 North 14th Street, driving a 1961 Pontiac four door owned by Charles D. Sexton, had started to pull out from the curb on North 14th Street when Mark A. Hagan of Mayfield, driving a 1964 Dodge Carryall, owned by U.S. Army Postoffice Building, Mayfield, going north on 14th Street, hit the Sexton car in the left front fender and bumper, according to Sgt. Barney Weeks, Patrolman Bill McDougal, and H. E. Wilson who investigated the accident.

Another accident occurred Wednesday at 8:32 a.m. as Charles Donald Robertson of Kuttawa Route Two, driving a 1966 Chevrolet two door hardtop, owned by Williams Edward Travis of Princeton Route Three, was headed east on Olive Street and was stopped in lane of traffic. Lorraine D. Russo of 248 North Street, New Hyde Park, N. J., driving a 1961 Chevrolet two door convertible, was going east on Olive Street, could not stop on the icy street, and hit the Robertson car in the rear end, according to the report, filed by Patrolman Martin Wells, Ed Knight, and Max Morris.

The police also issued one citation for reckless driving on Wednesday, according to their records.

Large Scale Ground War Tied In With Air War Is Successful

By MICHAEL T. MALLOY

United Press International

SAIGON — U.S. planes braving North Viet Nam anti-aircraft and missile defenses strengthened during the 37-day bombing "roll hit" military targets 60 miles northwest of Hanoi today. In the ground war four major offensives had put more than 3,000 Communists out of action.

The biggest success was scored by troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division in "Operation Masher" along the coast 300 miles north-east of Saigon. The operation inflicted an estimated 2,000 casualties on the enemy of which 709 were confirmed dead. The total estimated dead was 767.

It was the second highest toll ever inflicted on Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars. The 1st Cavalry killed 1,500 Communists, including most of two North Viet Nam regiments, in the Ia Drang Valley and on the slopes of Chu Yung Mountain last November.

Estimates there were 2,000 dead. That was the heaviest loss ever suffered by the North Vietnamese.

Maybe New Phase "Operation Masher" was renamed Operation White Wing today, perhaps signaling a new phase of a campaign that also netted 120 Viet Cong captured, 906 suspects detained and an estimated 300 or more wounded.

There was a possibility the new phase could include 5,000 Marines operating 20 miles to the north in Operation Double Eagle. So far the Marines have killed 23 Viet Cong, captured four and detained 146 suspects. The Marines biggest success was Operation Starlight last August when they killed 699.

The two other offensives were Operation Van Buren by the 101st Airborne. To date it has killed 345 Viet Cong and detained 493 suspects in fighting along the coast below the 1st Cavalry section. Operation Mallet carried out by U.S. 1st Infantry troops 15 miles southeast of Saigon has killed an estimated 80 to 90 Viet Cong including two today.

Two New Missions U.S. Air Force F105 fighter-bombers streaked through low clouds on two missions over North Viet Nam today in the fourth day of raids since the lull ended Monday.

On one mission the Thunderchiefs sank or set fire to two barges on the Song Ma River 60 miles northwest of Hanoi, the northernmost strike since resumption of the raids.

A spokesman said U.S. Navy planes in Wednesday attacks sank a North Vietnamese patrol boat 40 miles south of the key port city of Haiphong. Most of the other raids were further south where planes hit a storage area near the city of Vinh while Navy planes pounded highways and other communications.

Hundreds of American, South Vietnamese and South Korean troops have been participating in the coastal sweep 300 miles north-east of Saigon since last Friday.

Cavalrymen today reported killing 12 Viet Cong, bringing the Army's toll to 514 confirmed dead. The South Vietnamese have accounted for 118 and the ROK forces another 75.

Strike Called By Teachers Over State

by United Press International

ALL but 5 per cent of Kentucky's 29,000 teachers were expected to stay away from their classrooms to protest insufficient pay raises today.

The impact of the walkout, however, was watered-down by many schools being closed by Tuesday's near record snowstorm. The Kentucky Education Association, which called the protest demonstration, said the weather would not cancel the one-day strike.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt indicated he will speak to 1,200 teachers groups today about the problem of school financing and teachers' salaries.

The governor was to address a meeting of the Lexington Teachers Association this morning, then speak later by telephone to the Christian County Teachers Association.

In most of Kentucky's 290 school districts the classrooms were closed. School board anticipation of the walkout was the reason in many cases; the severest winter storm in 49 years the reason in others.

The weather averted an open clash between officials and teachers in Barren County. The school board had ordered teachers to be on the job today, hinting that serious consideration would be given to accept the "resignations" of those honoring the KEA walkout.

The KEA called the strike after legislators approved the state budget providing teacher pay raises of up to $400 over the next two years. The KEA sought a $900 minimum over the same period.

REST HOME APPROVED

PARIS, Tenn. — The state has approved $100,000 for construction of the proposed Crestview Rest Home, a project being supervised by a Paris fireman, Carl Shankle, the fireman, decided he would do the work himself. He said he was determined to start the project when he found the 50-bed Henry County Nursing Home had a waiting list of 65 persons for over a year.

The structure, to begin going up in April, will be located on Shankle's 400-acre farm. A well has already been drilled.

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

WASHINGTON — Rep. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., praising the President's "Food for Peace" program, which he feels will help prevent conflicts such as the Viet Nam war.

"The rise of communism in China was an agrarian revolt. Fidel Castro got his start in Cuba on the farms. In Viet Nam, we hold the cities, but we cannot hold the rural areas."

ESTERVILLE, Iowa — Skydiver Nick Plantanida, who Wednesday attempted to set a new world free fall record, relating how he felt when his chute temporarily failed to open 23 miles above the Midwestern countryside:

"I figured I had had it."

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, stressing the need to keep the national economy in balance by holding to the established wage-price guidelines:

"We've already proved that recessions are not a necessary fact of life. Now we must prove that inflation is not necessary."

HONOLULU — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, warning that the 37-day bombing lull strengthened the enemy's hand in the war:

"During the cessation of bombing in North Viet Nam, the Viet Cong continued their acts of terrorism, their harassment of the people in the countryside, their atrocities and most definitely their infiltration of the South."

A Bible Thought For Today

And he said unto them, Why are ye so fearful? how is it that ye have no faith? — Mark 4:40.

Just What Is Faith? Big Question

By LOUIS CASSELL

What is faith?
Christians have been trying for 20 centuries to formulate an adequate answer to that question.

One of the first attempts was made by the anonymous author of the New Testament's epistle to the Hebrews. He said that faith gives substance to our hopes, and makes us certain of realities we do not see.

To Martin Luther, faith was not so much a matter of believing in propositions as of trusting in a person. "Faith," he said, "is a lively confidence in the goodness of God."

In our own century, the great Scottish theologian John Bullis described faith as "a primary mode of apprehending reality," which is as "self-authenticating" as the physical senses of sight, touch and hearing.

Latest Underlining
Tastes to undertake the classic task of defining faith is the distinguished English theologian, Austin Farrer, warden of Keble College at Oxford University. His discussion on the subject are contained in a short, very readable book entitled "Saying Belief," which is heralded as an excellent choice for Lenten discussion groups.

It is published in this country by Morehouse-Belknap, New York.

Dr. Farrer takes issue with the view, very widespread today, that faith is primarily an act of will, a force of dogged determination to believe things for which we find little or no persuasive evidence.

"Faith is neither an attitude we adopt in looking for an object of conviction, nor an attitude we work up to bolster a conviction already lodged in our minds," he says.

Faith implies genuine persuasion, and persuasion is not genuine unless it comes from the things which persuade us. It cannot be got going by stoking up the furnace of the will.

He also finds inadequate Luther's attempt to equate faith with trustfulness.

"How can an attitude of trustfulness, evidently appropriate to God if he exists, be appropriate to a decision whether he exists or not? We can trust him if he exists, but we cannot, in the same sense, trust him to exist."

So much for what faith is not. What is it?

Dr. Farrer says it is an "attitude of mind" which is open and responsive to the evidence of a creator that is vast and small throughout the universe.

Everything that exists, from the galaxies to our own self-conscious human minds, is persuasive proof, to some, that behind all this there has to be "a supreme creative will . . . an infinite and changeless cause."

SHOT SUCCESSFUL

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — The nuclear submarine Simon Bolivar Monday shot a Polaris A-3 missile more than 2,000 miles to an Atlantic Ocean target area. It was the fleet's 25th strategic success.

The 30-foot missile, key to the Navy's strategic rocket strength, was fired while the submarine was cruising submerged 30 miles off the Florida coast.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

By United Press International

NEW YORK (AP) — Economist William F. Butler of the Chase Manhattan Bank says the Johnson administration should raise taxes now instead of doing so on a continuing basis later on.

Butler also told the credit policy conference of the American Bankers Association that he looks for further rises in interest rates.

The start of this week was expensive to business in general but particularly so to the eastern railroads who estimated their snow removal and other emergency costs due to the storm at $20 million. Highway supervisors and carriers also had severe emergency expenses so did the state and local governments.

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission has started action that could lead to an order to Ideal Cement Co. to divest itself of Ideal Supply Co. of Houston.

Ideal bought Builders Supply last year. The FTC complaint said the acquisition may have denied competition access to a substantial segment of the cement market.

Cats Down Vandy As Dampier Hits For 42 Points

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp called his Wednesday night 100-90 victory over Vanderbilt "an exact duplicate" of the previous game between the two squads at Lexington.

"We beat them on the boards. I think this is an exact duplicate of the game up there," Rupp said.

"Our shooting percentages will be about the same," Rupp said.

Rupp called Louie Dampier's 42-point performance his best for the Wildcats. Dampier was open for a lot of shots, particularly in the first half, and Rupp commented, "We pleased it that way."

"Whoever there is a defense it has a weakness somewhere," the Baron of the Blue Grass said.

Rupp said he did not think the loss would hurt Vanderbilt very much in the national ratings; Vanderbilt is third, just behind the second-ranked Wildcats.

Asked if he thought this was the last major hurdle for Kentucky in its bid for Southeastern Conference title, Rupp replied, "We have plenty of hurdles yet."

Kentucky ran its season record to 18-0 and is now 7-0 in the SEC after last night's win.

Comparing the present Wildcats squad with the first Kentucky team of the 50s, Rupp said, "This is as quick a ball club as I have ever seen. They run well, they rebound well."

Vanderbilt coach Roy Skinner called the Kentucky squad a "great team."

"It was too much Dampier at first and too much Pat Riley in the second half," Skinner said. "We couldn't stop them."

Rupp was second in scoring for Kentucky College Basketball Results.

An investment in Your Future

...ATTEND CHURCH

For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also

A move to worship GOD in His HOUSE is aMOVE in the RIGHT DIRECTION

To attend Church is the first step in finding God.
To attend regularly is to continue in the right direction, and gives one an opportunity to understand God's will in his life. Now is the time to make your move. Choose the way that will lead you to God.
Attend Church Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

THE LEDGER & TIMES

Dear Abby . . .

LIKE FATHER, LIKE DAUGHTER!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who lives in another state, was having a little trouble with her husband, so she and her four kids came back home to live with her Pa and me. She stayed five weeks and then her husband came and got her. They went home again as everything was patched up. My husband never did know the real reason why she came home. He didn't ask so nobody told him. He must have found out some way because I got a letter from my daughter saying her father had sent her a bill for $140 for room and board while she was here. He said that if her husband didn't pay it he'd turn it over to a lawyer; that he could collect, too, because after a woman gets married, her HUSBAND is supposed to support her, not her father. That's not all. My daughter got mad and had the police pick up her father for driving without a license. (He hasn't had one in six years, and she knew it.) Which was worse? Sending a daughter a bill, or picking the police on a father?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: You all sound like a bunch of kids to me. I think your daughter inherited her father's brains and they deserve each other.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old. Many times I have started to write a letter to you about my problem, but I always end up throwing it in the wastepaper basket. I have finally summed up my problem with these three questions: (1) What is a friend? (2) How do you get friends? (3) How do you keep them?

FRIENDLESS
DEAR FRIENDLESS: A friend is someone who likes you and wants nothing of you but friendship. He doesn't like you less when you're crabby, moody or mean. He understands you. He can tell you when he thinks you're wrong without worrying about losing your friendship. And he forgives you without making a big deal out of it. You "get" friends by being the kind of person you WANT for a friend. You "keep" them by continuing to be that kind of person.

DEAR ABBY: A friend's daughter was recently married. They are very social people in town, so I went overboard on the wedding gift, but I was foolish because when all the gifts were displayed there were no cards with the gifts, so no one knew who gave what. I think this was a dirty trick. I wonder why they do this? Or is this something new to protect cheapskates?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: It's nothing new, and it is proper to display wedding gifts with the giver's name removed. It's not to "protect cheapskates" nor to deflate show-offs. It's one of the rules of etiquette which makes sense.

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with THE CAPELAIN'S WIFE, whose husband always reprimanded her in the presence of guests, and added insult to injury by capping it with "and I don't want to have to call your attention to it again!" I had the same problem with my husband. The first time it happened I was puzzled and hurt, but I didn't make an issue of it. I just kept silent. The next time, I set him about six words, then I turned to one of the guests and began a conversation, ignoring my husband completely. Then I turned back to my husband and said, "Oh, I'm sorry, were you speaking to me? I wasn't listening. I thought you were talking to the dog. Would you please repeat what you said?" Of course he didn't.

Sincerely,
RUTH

'Wash-and-Wear' Some Tips On Their Care From Experts

By MARGERY MCELHENY
United Press International
CHICAGO 695 — Many of the first "wash-and-wear" products did not live up to their reputation but more recent developments in fiber manufacture, garment construction and finishes have solved many of the problems.

With the introduction of "permanent press," in which the press is actually baked in, even touch-up ironing is often unnecessary. Wash-and-wear garments must be handled properly during washing if they are to be used effectively. The wash-and-wear setting on your automatic dryer will flatten out most of the wear wrinkles, but remove the clothes from the dryer and put them on hangers as soon as the dryer stops.

Some dryers have signals, such as a bell, to indicate when these items should be removed. If clothes are allowed to remain in the dryer after it shuts off, the heat will set new wrinkles.

A fabric softener added to the final rinse water is also a big help in easing the ironing load. It makes

Rosetta Robertson Presides At Meet Of Rainbow Girls

Murray Assembly No. 19 Order of the Rainbow for Girls held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at seven o'clock at the Masonic Hall.

Miss Rosetta Robertson, worthy advisor, presided and Miss Bonnie Williams, recorder pro-tem, read the minutes.

The installation for this term was completed with the installation service for Miss Kay Sykes as faith and Miss Connie DePriest as a choir member.

Those present were Rosetta Robertson, Sharon Norworthy, Bonnie Williams, Connie DePriest, Carolyn McNeely, Vickie McKeel, Kay Sykes, Linda Dunn, Linda Sholar, Anita Flynn, Sandra Bellos, Donna Boyd, Carolyn King, Joyce Winchester, Lynn Watson, Sheri Outland, Mrs. Frances Churchill, mother advisor, Mrs. Sue Flynn, and Howard McNeely.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, February 15, at seven p.m. at the Masonic Hall.

Her Plea: More Women Doctors

NEW YORK 695 — Women make whirlwind doctors. The only trouble, there aren't enough of them in the profession.

So says Dr. Margaret Jane Schneider, the new president of the American Medical Women's Association (AMWA) the world's oldest organization of women physicians.

She's spearheading a campaign to get more women into the medical field. There are only 15,249 female physicians in the United States, she said. "Only six per cent of all U.S. physicians," she added. "In Russia, oddly enough, 80 per cent of all physicians are women."

Dr. Schneider, in private life the wife of Joseph W. Austin, a certified life underwriter at Cincinnati, Ohio, plans to take to the lecture circuit to get more girls into medicine.

"Many girls of high school age decline a medical career because they believe that marriage and subsequent motherhood would abruptly end their careers, due to absence from practice," she said. Her answer — dozens of medical schools offer refresher courses in medicine and specialization.

Additional information is available in publications from the AMWA. And, she added, proper counseling, adequate knowledge as to where to go to receive scholarships, grants and financial assistance are also available at the association's numerous branches throughout the country.

DETROIT — The auto industry expects to set another new production record in February after coming within 1 per cent of last year's output mark in January. The January total was 516,115 cars. February output is scheduled at 750,000.

Judges Boxed In By Boxes One Designer

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK 378 — Talk about being boxed in.

That's exactly what happened to judges in the annual competition sponsored by the Folding Paper Box Association of America at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies.

The poor things evaluated nearly 7,000 cartons. They liked a lot of what they saw and had these words for you, the shopper:

"A trip through any store is going to be an easier and happier experience because carton suppliers and consumer-goods manufacturers in 17 basic product groups now are designing packages that pay as much attention to customer needs and desires as to product protection and delivery."

Margery Markley, package designer and one of the panelists said there is a trend to larger block letters for identifying bakery and soap cartons.

For The Neardighted
This will come as a boon to the 66 per cent of female shoppers who should wear glasses while shopping, but won't according to another panelist, C. Wayne Barlow, of Chicago's Quaker Oats Co.

Miss Markley, meanwhile, said she feels there is a greater need for feminine opinion in color selection. Since women make most of the buying decision at the retail level, she declared, the packages should feature more colors that appeal especially to women.

The panel noted that opening and reclosable features of cartons had improved. But there was no promise of unboxing fingermarks when you try to open many of the cartons. The panel said there is a need to design cartons that rule out this problem.

Shoppers can expect to find stronger "net galleries" elsewhere in stores this year. Many of the cartons feature photographs and illustrations.

The pictures are supposed to draw you over to the shelf, tempt you to pick up the box. They also help you understand better what the product is supposed to do.

More Consumer Rapport
It was also noted that manufacturers are going to greater lengths to satisfy special consumer requirements. Singled out for praise was one frozen bakery carton. It featured individual roll names. The housewife doesn't cook the whole carton, just what she needs.

The panel also had kind words for packages that blend more with interior decorations that have resale value when contents are consumed; toy cartons that are an integral part of the plaything.

The construction and graphic innovations have two major objectives, according to G. L. Nordstrom, executive director of the association.

They remind buyers what they need or heard about the product. They help buyers to recall what they remember about the product's performance.
